SPORTS.

All the local chess players are waiting for the 22nd day of February to usher in the chess experts of Ohio. From East, West, North and South all Ohio chessmen will on that day be located in Akron.

The Ohio Chess Association decided one year ago to meet here in 1901. Once again Champion Willenbury, of Cleveland, will have to fight for his hard won title.

This year may see his Waterloo, for never before has such an array of chess talent gathered to contest for the honor and glory of winning the coveted prize—the State championship.

The Akron club has the local arrangements in hand and intends to contribute $150 in prizes to be divided among the three classes. The championship class will receive the lion's share, but the winner of the other two classes will be well rewarded. Second and third prizes will also be given in each class.

Messrs. Pillsbury and Showalter, the American champions, are to be here and it will be a treat to see the result of the blindfolded games between those great masters and the Ohio experts.

Never before was such a meeting held, and Akron will have the honor of witnessing a great battle of brains. Akron will be represented by the members of the local club and such of Akron's chess players not members, who desire to join the Association and test their knowledge of the game.

Applicants for State membership are cordially asked to send their name and address to Wm. Masterson, P. O. Box 245, Akron, Ohio. The fee for State Association membership is only one dollar per year, and every chess lover in Akron should enter this contest and do all in their power to uphold the fame of the city. The players of the State, experts and novices are coming to see Akron and do their best to get away with a prize. Play will begin the morning of the 22nd, and will last at least three days, or until the championship is settled.

The local committee is working diligently to make the tournament a success. The members are receiving substantial encouragement from the local chess lovers. A special meeting will be held Saturday evening at 7:30 in the club rooms in the Horix block, opposite the postoffice. All chess players are invited to participate.

New officers will be selected and the final plans for the State tournament will be made. The local club is responsible for having the tournament held here and intend to make the meeting one to be remembered by the participants in the tourney.

GUS' RECEPTION.

Undoubtedly one of the largest crowds that ever attended an athletic entertainment in this city will welcome Gus Rublin on his return to this city. Manager Wise of the South End Club has already received requests for seats from Cleveland, Canton, and Massillon, and from present indications the Opera House will be taxed to its limit. As the appearance of Gus in this city will be only a short time previous to the day he fights for the championship, his Akron friends who will not be able to go to Cincinnati, will have an opportunity to draw an idea as to Gus's chances with Jeffries. The colored contingent will also be on hand to see "Denver" Ed Martin, who lays claim to the colored heavyweight championship. Martin is a larger man than Rublin and from reports is a corner. Rublin and Martin will box six very fast rounds and Billy Madden will officiate over every event in the capacity of referee, at which vocation he has quite a reputation. Johnny Whittaker and Jack Palmer are getting in fine shape for their respective matches, and both expect to make the light of their life.

TRAINING QUARTERS SELECTED.

Both Rublin and Jeffries have selected quarters at which to prepare for their championship battle. Rublin will do his work at Lookout house on the Lexington pike, near Cuyahoga. It is an ideal spot. The location is elevated and good pure air is there in abundance. The Price Hill house has been leased for Jeffries. He will be assisted by Billy Delaney, Jack Jeffries, Jack McCormick, Bob Armstrong and Kid Egan.

WILL IT BE STOPPED?

Considerable money is being wagered in Cincinnati that the Rublin-Jeffries contest will not take place there. Odds of 2 to 1 are being offered that the battle will be called off.

STUART'S CARNIVAL.

Dan A. Stuart has announced that he will manage a fistic carnival in Carson City early next spring. He purposes to erect a large club house with a seating capacity of 25,000. He has two fights in sight. One will be between the winner of the Rublin-Jeffries contest and Bob Fitzsimmons and the other between Terry McGovern and an English featherweight.

ENDS HIS CAREER.

Jeffries has announced that his battle with Rublin will be the last in which he will engage. Sharkey is furious. He claims that Jeffries promised him a fight within 30 days after the contest with Rublin.

HAS ITS ADVANTAGE.

Jeffries says that the crouching position in fighting has much to do with his success. He claims that it gives him a longer reach, makes his defensive work better and affords a better opportunity to land a knockout punch with his left hand.

McCOY NOT READY.

Kid McCoy has asked that the fight with Tom Sharkey be postponed from Feb. 28, to March 14. He wants a longer time in which to prepare for the engagement. The Police Commission...

FOOT RACE

Won by the Constable.

An Attorney's Rush to Save His Case.

It Worked Just He Had Planned.

Started Conversation With Other Side

To Give Time For Preparation of Another Attachment.

Constable P. J. Cummins won a warm foot race Friday afternoon. Attorney Edward Claffey and Ed. Wakeland were also contestants for the prize which went to the winner. The purpose for the event was offered indirectly by The Webster, Camp & Lane company. It was waiting in the office of that corporation, for the winner. The lawyer was beaten by 10 feet.

Several days ago August Maas filed an action in Squire Vaughan's court asking judgment against Wakeland on an account for board and lodging. He filed an affidavit of attachment and the defendant's wages were tied up. He was an employee of The Webster, Camp & Lane company. The case was set for trial Friday. When it was called Attorney Claffey asked that the attachment be dismissed as the affidavit was defective. Squire Vaughan held with him. This released Wakeland's wages and defeated Maas.

The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Frank Rockwell. He was not ready to quit and he adopted heroic measures to save his client's case. Attorney Rockwell is a football player. So is Wakeland. Both are prone to discuss anything touching on the game. No sooner had the Justice dismissed the attachment than the lawyer struck up a conversation with Wakeland relative to their favorite pastime. They were in the back room of the office. Squire Vaughan was meanwhile preparing a new attachment another affidavit having been filed. Attorney Claffey suspected that there was design in his brother lawyer's methods and he called to his client to make haste to the office of The Webster, Camp & Lane company.

Too late. The delay had been fatal. Constable Cummins had received the new attachment and had a nose the better of it in the start. He was just leaving the office when Attorney Claffey and his client arrived. The money is in the safe at the company's office. It will be held until the merits of the case are passed on by Squire Vaughan.
